Wage for officers defeated by SGA

At last Monday night's SGA council meeting the proposal to pay SGA officers a monthly salary was defeated. The measure was hotly contested; the deciding ballot being cast by Dean Thompson, SGA president.

In an opinion poll on the ballot by a 409-308 vote. The proposed wages were $10 a month for president and $5 a month each for vice-president and secretary.

In casting the deciding ballot, Thompson said that since the vote in the SGA generals was only an opinion poll and since there was no overwhelming majority in favor of the wages he felt that they should not be paid. Other reasons he gave for not paying the wage were that it might "cheapen the office" and the budget might not be able to stand the increased expenditures.

4 juniors named as 'Grey Gowns'

Plans for the 1953 Commencement exercises are rapidly drawing to a close, said Dr. J. Wesley Crum, marshal of Commencement, recently. The exercises are being planned for Sunday, May 31, at 3 p.m. in the College auditorium.

Speaker for the day will be Virgil Smith, assistant superintendent of the Seattle city schools, announced Dr. Crum.

"Grey Gowns" for the Commencement have been named and include Pat Hutchinson, Grandview; Rosalie Matthews, Quincy; Bill McIlory, Port Townsend and Jane Simmons, Yakima. The "Grey Gowns" are selected from the four juniors with the highest grade-point. To lead the Commencement procession, is their duty.

High brass here for 2nd annual ROTC review May 14; top cadets honored

Lt. Col. Jerry D. Miller, commander of the CWC unit of the AFROTC, announced this week that the annual formal review will be held next Thursday at 11 a.m. on Tomlinson field.

This ceremony is designed to honor those cadets who have been chosen by the staff as being outstanding men in the cadet corps, said Col. Miller.

Kosy announces application clinic

Eugene Kosy, assistant professor of business education, today announced plans for a clinic on writing letters of application and filling in data sheets. The clinic is to be held at 7 p.m., Wednesday, May 13 in Room 105 of the Business Education building.

Kosy said the purpose of the clinic is to aid students who have problems or want assistance in writing letters of application for part time summer jobs, or for permanent employment.

Form and appearance of a letter of application and personal data sheet, the sequence of topics to be included in a good letter of application, and the desired tone and psychology of use to get favorable response to the letter are points Kosy said he plans to cover in the clinic. The session will consist of the presentation of the above points followed by a question and answer period.

This clinic comes in response to many questions and much interest shown by students in this area. It is a service planned by the Business Education department to help as many students at possible at one time.

Globetrotter Ball nets $50.10 for WSSF; another dance Saturday

Another dance for the World Student Service Fund will be held tomorrow night in the Men's gym from 9 p.m. to 12. Combo music will be featured. The dance is being sponsored by SGA, but with net proceeds going to WSSF.

At the "Globetrotter Ball" last Friday night the WSSF took in just $50.10 to send to needy students overseas.

Shirley Olson, WSSF general chairman, said that the committee would like to publicly thank Jim Blackstone, Jerry Carrosco, Sgt. Byron Conner, Bob Dalton, Art Hartsell, Bruce Kollmar, John McClament, Bob "Beep" Panerio and Russ Uusitalo for donating their services to the "International Combo."

Greetings, Mothers

On behalf of the Central students may I welcome you to this 1953 Mother's Day weekend on our campus.

We have looked forward to your arrival and we hope that the activities planned for you will be enjoyable and that you will have many pleasant memories to take home with you.

Roseleen O'Callaghan,

President,

Associated Women Students

Rosie O'Callaghan

Each year I deem it a privilege to extend a sincere welcome to the mothers of our students on Mother's Day. This year I will not have the pleasure of being present in person so I am taking this means of sending a message to the mothers. We welcome you to our campus and to the Saturday and Sunday events. You will know that several staff members and many students have put forth a great deal of effort to arrange for an attractive program for your pleasure.

I sincerely wish for you a very pleasant visit. Central tries to hold a very high standard in regard to academic work, social events, and living conditions. We trust that you will find them to your liking.

ROBERT E. MCCONNELL
President

On behalf of the Associated Women Students' council I am very happy to extend a most cordial welcome to you, our CWCE mothers. The celebration of Mothers' Day is one of the oldest and best loved of our campus traditions. We hope that you will enjoy attending the many activities planned for you as well as visiting your sons and daughters. We consider each of you as "Queen for the day." Have a wonderful time!

ANNETTE H. HITCHCOCK
Dean of Women

One of the nice yearly events that our students look forward to with much enthusiasm is Mother's Day. The students and faculty not only thoroughly enjoy it because it is an opportunity to bring our mothers to the campus and share with us the activities, but also because it is another opportunity for us to enjoy meeting a lot of very wonderful people.

On behalf of the students and the faculty, let me extend a most hearty welcome to each and all of you. While we do not get the opportunity of meeting every mother personally, we always feel that we know you just a little better because you were able to attend and enjoy Mothers' Day. It is a sincere effort on our part to show our devotion that we sometimes forget to make very meaningful the other days of the year.

Functions of UN committees told by member

by Connie Weber

On Thursday afternoon after the first plenary session of the General assembly, the delegation from Iraq divided into two groups: those who had prepared to participate in the Trusteeship committee, and those who were on the Political and Security committee. In both the committees, on which CWCE was represented there were delegates from each UN country.

while a chairman, rapporteur, and parliamentarian provided by the University of California. As in the General assembly, we used parliamentary procedure and were provided with one voting card for each delegation.

Proposal to Accept Agenda

In the Trusteeship council, the first action was introduced by Yemen, one of our Middle East friends, who proposed that we accept the agenda as it stood. This included the following topics: criteria for determination of political advancement and self-government of non-self-governing territories, and the disturbances in Kenya. This measure, although denounced by Russia, was passed with only two dissenting votes.

Under the adopted agenda, the first proposal submitted, by Yugo-

Many varied events on tap for 20th Mother's weekend

Once again the Associated Women Students present their highlight of activities for the year—the annual Mother's Day festivities. This is the 20th year that a program has been planned honoring mothers on their day, and it is expected that a larger number of mothers will be here for the occasion than in any past year, Marilyn Miskimens, general chairman, pointed out. Mothers of both men and women students have been invited, as has been the custom in previous years.

Festivities will begin Saturday morning with an unorganized tour of the campus. One of the main attractions of this tour will be the exhibits and open house in the Art department and the Science building. Other points of interest to mothers are the dorms, the College library and the College Elementary School.

The traditional Mother's Day Tea will be held Saturday afternoon from 2 to 4 p.m. in the College Union Building instead of Kamola's West Room as had been previously announced.

Also during the hours of 2 to 4 p.m., Central's co-eds will model the latest styles at the Fashion show, to be held in the CES auditorium. It is requested that those whose last names begin from A through M bring their mothers to the fashion show at two o'clock, while those whose last names begin from N through Z should attend the three o'clock presentation.

A capacity crowd is expected at the banquet honoring mothers, which will be held in the Commons promptly at 6 p.m. At this time, Rosie O'Callaghan, AWS president, will officially welcome the mothers and the response will be given by Mrs. R. E. Dent, grandmother of Jean Dent of Yakima. At this time also, appropriate speeches will be presented by Mrs. R. E. McConnell and Mrs. Annette Hitchcock, dean of women.

Drawing the day's events to a close will be the Mother's Day program immediately following the banquet in the College auditorium. Highlight of this event will be the formal installation of the new AWS officers by the current officials.

Following the installation will be the announcement of the AWS Scholarship awards and the AWS Scholarship plaque. At this time two scholarships are presented, one to an on-campus woman student and the other to an off-campus woman student.

Selection of the award winners is made by the AWS council and advisors.

Announcement of the winner of the AWS Scholarship plaque will also be made at this time. This plaque is presented annually to the women's living group attaining the highest scholastic

Olson, Money, Weber to lead women's dorms; other officers elected

Last week the three women's dormitories elected their officers for next year. In Sue Lombard Janet Money was elected president, with Dorthory Harlow being named vice-president. Sandra Taylor will be secretary, and Sally Brown will handle the treasurer's duties. Jo Anne Risdon was named social commissioner, and JoAnn Rhodes will act as courtesy chairman.

Shirley Olson was elected president of Kamola hall, with Mary Roberts serving as veep. Elaine Sylvester and Marian McCausland will act as secretary and treasurer respectively. Handling the social commissioner's duties will be Janet Smith and Mary Schwichtenberg.

At Kennedy hall, Connie Weber was elected president, while Nancy Stevens was named vice-president. Secretary will be Marilyn Tolles, and Joan Thompson will serve as treasurer. Social commissioner will be Pat Sullivan, and her assistant will be Joan Russell. Jaki VanValkenburg will be proctor and Pat Hutchinson will be historian.

This weekend planned to show our appreciation to our Moms

Mothers, we welcome you to Central Washington College. This is your weekend here, with all events designed to lend to your enjoyment. Many, many hours of hard work have gone in on the preparation of the weekend's program.

We hope that this weekend will, in a small way, repay you for your concern and help with our college career. It was largely through your influence that we are at college today, at a college where we are trying to become the type of persons you want us to be.

College is a place where we are meeting new friends, learning new things, finding how to get along with others, finding our own capabilities and lifework. Sure, Moms, we have a lot of fun here, but underlying all that fun is a newly learned social awareness we never would have had if you had not urged and helped us to go to college.

Twenty years the Associated Women Students at Central decided that you, our Mothers, deserved to be honored by the college for your part in our education. At first only the Mothers of the women students here were invited to the gala weekend, but a few years ago, it was realized that the men students had Mothers too, and so now all Central Mothers are invited and honored.

Each year the event has grown larger and better, and this weekend's festivities are expected to be the biggest and best of the last 20 years. The women have worked hard for you, Mothers. We hope the results of their efforts will show you how much we college students appreciate you, and will help repay you for everything you have done for us in the past years.

Have a good time, Mothers; this weekend is yours!

College women needed as marine reserve officers

Training for marine corps women officer candidates will be held again this year at Quantico, Va., beginning in June.

M-Sgt. Roy Fuller of Yakima, who is in charge of interviewing candidates for the training program in this area, said the class is known as the Marine Corps Women Officers Training Class. It consists of 12 weeks of special training designed to prepare the individual candidate for the responsible work she will have later on as a commissioned officer in the corps.

Graduates of the Women Officers Training Class, who will receive commissions as second lieutenants, U. S. Marine Corps Reserve, will be considered for assignments in such fields as personnel, administration, supply and public information.

"Women marine officers are a real part of the corps" M-Sgt. Fuller said, "they receive the same pay, allowances, and benefits as do male officers of the same rank. They are now serving on active duty in this country, Europe and Hawaii."

Qualified young women who are still attending college, are eligible to enroll in the Marine Corps Women Officers Training Class.

FTA to sponsor noted educator's speech next Tuesday evening

Dr. George H. Reavis, an outstanding man in the field of education, will be on campus on May 12. Dr. Reavis will speak on "An Educational Platform for the Public Schools" at 7 p.m. at the CES auditorium.

Advance information indicates that he will be a very worthwhile speaker, since he has traveled extensively and has been outstanding in education in Ohio, Missouri, and Pennsylvania. He has served extensively as a curriculum consultant, and an author of courses of study, high school standards and curriculum manuals.

Dr. Reavis is being sponsored by the Future Teachers of America and they are extending an invitation to everyone to attend his lecture.

In the recent SGA elections there were many phrases bandied about having to do with the student constitution. Most of these promises of revision, or at least attempted revision, had to do with the amendment laws. I believe there are many more important points which should be clarified.

The present constitution, I think, contains many good ideas, but it is entirely too ambiguous. A constitution, to be effective, must leave as little leeway for interpretation as possible. Take the election rules for example.

They state that a constitutional amendment must be published in the CRIER at least ten days previous to the election, but make no mention of posting a set election day, the number of days an election may run or anything else about the balloting.

Another thing, SGA spring elections, according to the constitution, are supposed to be run on the third Tuesday of spring quarter. The election this year, as well as several in the past, did not come on the specified day. This year, it would have been very inconvenient, if not impossible, to hold them that day, because there wasn't enough time to get nominations in and all. But, since many times it is not possible to live up to the constitution, why isn't it changed to read something like this: "The spring election of SGA officers shall be held on a Tuesday specified by the SGA Executive Board, the date not being later than the fifth week in the quarter." Then all elections would be strictly legal.

Now that Lee Semon has left E-burg in blaze of glory and the campus is reasonably back to normal after the big sale. I notice that a lot of bargains were obtained in all that scurry. Some of the "steadies" got twin shirts with original Swahili prints on the material, Dr. Funderburk purchased a new jaunty sport cap, Rudy Kovacevich and a confederate got the latest side-notched black Bikini Vantage whopper swim trunks, Bob Larrigan got "shod" with a rooty pair of genuine antelope laced mocassins, and I managed to buy a pair of nine cent ear muffs for an old Indian guide friend of mine who lives in Quebec. Yes, we'll all miss Lee and his 'men's wear, that's all."

Tonight the one SGA movie of the weekend will be shown. Dan Dailey and Anne Baxter will cavort in "gay '20's" style through "You're My Everything," a light bit of fluff guaranteed to take your mind off those cut feet and blistering backs you met up with at Vantage.

Referring once again to my deah, deah friend Jack Owen, I will attribute the question of the week to that truly intellectual giant . . . and I quote, "Jest whaat iz the purpose uv thet stuff you write?" This question will be answered in complete and over-full detail in the May 29 issue of the CRIER.

We're all glad to see Mrs. Hitchcock up and about again after her accident some time ago. After speaking to Mrs. Hitchcock about her foot injury last week I heard her say "At least I wasn't pushed, I fell of my own accord."

The W Club Smoker drew a relatively small and noiseless crowd Tuesday night. Speaking from the standpoint of an old sports trainer (if you don't believe me, see Zoo Lombard's baseball team on Sweezy Day.) I kind of liked some of the routines presented. Mssrs. Propst and Warner did some precision judo and Red Rundle and Sam of the Edmond S. Meany Sams showed what one quarter of boxing class will do for you.

Steak dinner offered in contest; Rockne wins pen

by Sam Long

Two free steak dinners, or evening meals await the first place winner of this week's CAMPUS CRIER contest. Second prize is a carton of Chesterfields, offered by Sam Long, Campus Chesterfield Representative.

Eddy Huie of New York Cafe, has promised a fascinating feast for the first prize winner and his (or her) guest. The New York Cafe is famous for both its Chinese and American foods.

To win look through the advertisements and form a five line jingle from the misplaced words you find. Take or call the poem into Kenneth Calkins, Room 110 Music building, phone 2-2191. The first person to correctly assimilate the words into their original order or near that order will take first prize. Next best or closest will receive the Chesterfields.

Last weeks Crier Contest was won by Phyllis Rockne who won a $5 Shaeffer pen given by Ellensburg Book and Stationery Store.

There will be a winner every week...so WHY NOT LET IT BE YOU?

AWS election results given by retiring prexy

The results of the AWS elections, which were held April 23, were announced this week by President Rosie O'Callaghan. The following officers were elected: president, Bette Flanagan, Kamola; vice president, Yvonne Dameron, Kennedy; secretary, Louise Lievero, Kamola; treasurer, Leona Panerio, Kamola; social commissioner, Joanne Anderson, Sue. The new council of officers elected Jo Widness as courtesy chairman.

Sue and Kennedy had a 100 per cent vote, with 315 women voting altogether.

Librarians attend college confabs

Several CWCE librarians attended two conferences at other college libraries recently. Margaret Mount, Leona Berry, Ruth Simmelink and John P. Allen participated in the activities at the Northwest College and University Librarian's annual conference at the Whitman college library in Walla Walla on Saturday, April 25. "Intellectual Freedom and the Librarian" was the title of a stimulating address by Dr. Frank B. Bennett, president of Eastern Oregon College of Education. Panel discussions on topics pertinent to the administration of college libraries were led by college and university librarians representing institutions in Washington, Oregon and Idaho.

On April 18 Helen Flynt, children's librarian, and Margaret Mount attended the annual convention of Washington State School Librarians which met on the junior college campus in Wenatchee. Miss Flynt represented the college and also was the official delegate of the Yakima Valley Unit of School Librarians.

IK's attend nationals; local chapter elects

Three Intercollegiate Knights from Central attended the IK national convention at Utah State School of Agriculture, Logan, during the last week in April. They were Ron Hopkins, Clarence Foster and Jim Ellis.

Central will host the national convention, including schools from Washington, Oregon, Idaho, Utah, California and Montana, next year, according to ElRoy Hulse, expansion officer for IK's.

Also reported by Hulse was the election of IK officers for next year. Those elected included Gene Wells, honorable duke; Ron Hopkins, recording scribe; ElRoy Hulse, expansion officer; Chuck Hazen, chancellor; Bob Andrews, corresponding scribe; Al Stevens, jester; Ray Stebner, historian; Jerry Garrison, guard.

25 frosh women to be '54 Spurs

Spurs, sophomore women's service honorary, tapped and pledged 25 freshmen women Monday, April 27.

Tapping, the notification of those girls chosen by this year's Spurs as next year's candidates, and pledging, the initiation of the girls who accept, is a yearly affair designed to perpetuate the club.

The girls tapped and pledged, according to Pat Thompson, present Spur president, include Joanne Anderson, Sally Baird, Joan Cartwright, Peggy Conway, Juanita Danielson, Kaye Davis, Delores Filleau, Joan Forest, Beverly Husby, Jeanette Kittelson, Janice Koken, Grace Lunstrom, Lois Mansberger, Glenna McCall, Margie Omat, Shirley Ostrum, Mary Pennington, Imogene Pownall, Barbara Pugh, Joanne Risdon, Laverne Roberts, Martha Smith, Nancy Stevens, Mary Lou Schwitchenburg, and Sandra Taylor.

The newly elected officers, announced Miss Thompson, are Miss Roberts, president; Miss Schwitchenburg, vice president; Miss Filleau, secretary; Miss Forrest, treasurer; Miss Cartwright, historian; and Miss Pugh, editor.

Bullard judges essay competition

Dr. Catharine Bullard, chairman of the department of Language, Literature and Speech, was recently chosen one of the judges in the state division of a nation-wide essay contest. Dr. Bullard was one of a board of three judges who judged a total of 37 essays written by high school students from throughout the state of Washington.

All high school students were eligible to enter the contest which was sponsored by the Ladies Auxiliary of the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

National winners in the contest collected cash prizes totaling $2,000 from their papers on "Democracy is What We Make It". Local and state branches of the organization awarded prizes in their districts also. Winners of the state contests were the entries from which the national winners were chosen.

The most hits off one pitcher in one game in the majors was 36. They were smacked off John Wadsworth when Louisville was in the National League back in 1894.

Spring auto check-up urged by State Patrol

State Patrol Chief James A. Pryde urged all Washington motorists to have their cars given a thorough "once over."

"It's wise to have your car checked," Pryde said, "so you can depend on it. Many accidents, he pointed out, are the result of poor maintenance of the car."

Washington motorists are urged to be on the look-out for mechanical defects in their cars. The best driver in the world can't stop in time if his brakes don't work, nor can he see the obstruction in the road ahead of him if his lights are bad.

"Brakes", Chief Pryde added, "should take hold evenly on all wheels. The hand brake should be able to hold the car on any hill. Brake fluid should be clean and at the proper level. An important part in safe driving is your headlights. They should be at the proper level for maximum road illumination and minimum glare. Lenses should be clean and reflectors bright."

Other danger-points for motorists to have checked are the tires, steering, windshield wipers, windshield glass, exhaust system, horn, and rear-view mirror.

WRA camping trip planned May 15

by Nancy Hardy

Women's Recreational association is planning a camping trip the weekend of May 15-17. The association urges all members who have paid their dues to sign the list found on the gym bulletin board before Friday, May 8, if they plan to make the trip.

Those going will be responsible for their personal equipment and bedding and a nominal fee will be charged to cover food and transportation costs.

All day hikes and evening programs plus the usual fun of camping out will be enjoyed by all who go. It is hoped that many will want to participate in this revival of the annual WRA spring outing.

WRA has also started their spring program of softball. Anyone interested in playing may come on Monday and Thursday evenings right after dinner and join the fun. We have been meeting on the field in back of the gym.

Tomorrow is the big day for the Central track and field team. In Eastern tomorrow the Cats will find a team that has not been defeated in regular Evergreen competition for many, many moons. Against the Savages at Moses Lake two weeks ago Central finished a strong second in a five team meet, but other schools took away points that Central should get in the dual meet. On paper it should be Eastern by as many as 20 points, but if the Wildcats can come through with better performances in such events as the broad jump, high jump, distances and middle distances, a two or three point edge over the Savages is very possible. A dual win over Eastern would bring everlasting glory to this year's squad.

Coach Monte Reynolds says that the 1953 track team has more top ranking performers than any Central squad for several years, but it could have been much better. During the winter, frosh Allen Smith showed great ability in the hurdles and could have been a leading point winner, but the army claimed him for more important events. Bob White would have been one of the conference's leading 440 men, according to Reynolds, and would have been the favorite in most meets, but he applied for active service in the Naval reserve. Nelse Lundstrum, holder of Central's all-time record in the low-hurdles, injured an ankle a few weeks ago, and just as he was getting back into shape, he was stopped by glandular fever.

The surprises of the season on this team, that could turn out to be Central's greatest, are Bill Jurgens, Ray Adams and Jack Benner. Jurgens returned to Central after a stretch in the army and quickly set school records in the shot put and the discus. Adams broke the school record in the 220 last week, and Benner earned his place in Central track annals by scoring 15 points in the PLC meet when he won the javelin, pole vault and high hurdles.

Jolly Jim McGregor, former coach at Whitworth, was interviewed for the head basketball coach at Boston college, but was turned down because Boston wanted someone to assist in football. Jolly Jim finally settled for Milton-Freewater high school in Oregon. He said he is glad to be getting back to high school coaching, but we wonder how anyone can leave college coaching without any regrets to take a relatively obscure high school job, even though Milton-Freewater is one of Oregon's athletic powerhouses in all sports.

Scuttlebut has it that the Wildcat baseballers thought the field was too wet for recent play after the first game of the double header against Seattle Pacific last Saturday, but the Falcons had lost the first three games to Central and had nothing to lose by playing in the mud, so insisted on playing the game. As the breaks go in baseball, Central made seven errors in losing the second contest to Seattle while the Falcons played errorless ball in downing a superior team.

Coach Leo Nicholson's tennis team rolls merrily on its way, beating everything in sight, but the Wildcats lack the one or two outstanding players to win the Evergreen championship, although they are one of the best in the Northwest in dual competition.

George Katalinich, now wearing the colors of Uncle Sam's Army, has joined Chuck Rabung on the camp team at Fort Ord in California. The former Wildcat rightfielder writes he will "have it made" if he can crack the squad.

W Club softball team has lead

Stanwood's aggregation to Central Washington college came out on top of the game of the week against Dirty Sox of Doug Locker by the score of 9-8. The victory was the third straight for the Steamers and left them alone on top of the American league with the Puget Sounders with a 3-0 record.

W Club continues to lead the national league with four straight wins. Last week the W Club downed the Montgomerys to go into undisputed first place in the standing with an 11-0 win.

Wildcats split with Seattle P.

Rain cost the Wildcat a clean sweep of their four non-conference baseball games with the Seattle Pacific Falcons as the Big City boys proved to be much more adept at playing in the mud that soaked the field in the second contest last Saturday after Central took the first game 8-1 behind the pitching of Dick Allan.

Central committed seven errors in the second game and two in the first as the ball became a devious, diabolical pill. Seattle did not err.

Central picked up 14 hits in the first game and five in the second. Sonny Dorich became the first Wildcat to get more than three hits in a double header this year as he collected two singles, a triple and a double in the two games. Jerry Jones, the frosh shortstop, found the batting range for three hits in seven at bats.

Racketmen sweep matches against Seattle P. and PLC

Central's racket-swingers lost only two of their 21 matches last week-end as they swept three series against Seattle Pacific, Pacific Lutheran and College of Puget Sound.

CPS's Bill Medin proved to be the only thorn in the side of the Wildcats as he defeated John Snoland 6-3 and 6-2 in singles and teamed with Brandenger to down Marsh Keating and Snoland in the first doubles 6-4, 1-6 and 6-0. Medin's cannonball serve and fireball play rate him the top tennis player in the Evergreen conference.

In downing Seattle Pacific and PLC the Wildcats ran up a total of 14 straight sets without a single loss. All the Seattle sets proved routine as Central men were never pushed into extra games in a single set. Only in the first doubles did PLC offer much competition, that in the 9-7 second set after Keating and Snoland took the first set over Luvaas and Hintze, 6-1.

Central women win at archery

Central Washington College's women's archery team topped teams from Western Washington college and Eastern Washington college April 25 with a score of 935 to Eastern's 605 and Western's 650.

In tennis and badminton, Central's representatives to the Women's Individual Sports Day held on the Ellensburg campus had rougher going. Competing schools included Whitworth, College of Puget Sound, Central, Eastern, Western, University of Washington, Washington State College, and the University of Idaho.

The high individual scorers in archery were Beverly Hoback, Central, 369; Marcia Laughbon, Central, 249; Delores Sutherland, University of Washington, 243; and Wilma Shannon, Western, 217. Central's archery team was composed of four women: Miss Laughbon, Miss Hoback, Janet Schacht, and Sally Zimmerman.

In the badminton singles, Central's Janet Olsen beat Eastern's Julia Altizer 11-0 and 12-9 in the first round. Miss Olsen won over the C.P.S. entry, Mary Gray, 11-5 and 11-5 in the second match. In the final Western's Lois Ramer, who had beaten the entries from the University of Washington and the University of Idaho, was victorious over Miss Olsen, 11-0 and 11-1.

Central's Badminton doubles team, Joan Forest and Laverne Roberts, did not get past the first match, losing to the University of Washington team 15-11 and 15-12. W.S.C. won the finals from the University, 15-3 and 15-0.

In the tennis singles Central's Jo Widness lost out in the first match to Western's Alice Wipple, 6-4 and 6-1. Miss Wipple also won the finals from the University of Washington entry, 6-3, 3-6 and 6-4.

Central's tennis doubles team, Leona Panerio and Pat Thomson, came from behind to beat C.P.S. 2-6, 6-2 and 6-4 in the first match but lost to the University of Washington in the second round. The University team also took the finals from Western.

Western Washington college took the finals in two events, W.S.C. in one event, the University of Washington in one event, and Central in one event.

RAY ADAMS sets himself in the starting blocks for a sprint in practice. Adams holds the all-time Central record for the 220-yard dash with a time of 21.5 seconds which topped Hal Berndt's 1942 mark by .2 of a second. Adams has been running the 100-yard dash in 10-flat. The school record is 9.9.

slavia, was to set up a committee of fourteen UN member nations to determine the criteria for political advancement of territories. Although Iraq was one of the countries to be included in this committee, we oposed the plan on the ground that such a committee had already been set up by the UN in 1951. With the support of almost every country the motion was then quickly tabled.

At this time, Lebanon introduced the proposal on which the whole Arab league had been working so hard. In effect, this measure would have made all territories self-governing within eight years. This hotly contested issue, after about three hours of debate, was finally called to a vote and passed the committee with a vote of 30 to 23 with four countries absent and four abstaining. The next day however, through some rather dubious procedural methods, the voting was again opened and by this time the opposition (the US) had gained enough votes to defeat our resolution.

Tunisia for Independence

The Political and Security committee was also very active even though the two main resolutions presented were defeated by a narrow margin. The first one, supported by 16 nations including Iraq, provided for the independence of Tunisia within three years. The next resolution concerned both Tunisia and Morocco, but referred the dispute to a committee for consideration. Both measures failed to pass, one being too strong and the other too ineffective to please a majority. At the close of the last Political and Security session on Friday, the committee was discussing the place of regional organizations such as NATO, the Organization of American States, and the Australian, New Zealand, U. S. pact, in the UN system.

The defeat of these issues, though disappointing, didn't mean that they were entirely dead. Even though a resolution is defeated in a committee, it may be

Dr. McConnell in East for AACTE meeting; to interview applicants

Dr. Robert E. McConnell, president of Central, left by plane last Wednesday for Oneonta, N.Y., to attend a meeting of the Executive committee of the American Association of Colleges for Teacher Education. Dr. McConnell is the immediate past-president of the AACTE.

While in the East, Dr. McConnell will stop at Harvard, Indiana university, Northwestern university and possibly Peabody College for Teachers to interview individuals for positions open on the Central Washington staff.

Positions still open include one in education, one in women's PE, one in home economics, a circulation librarian and a fourth grade teacher for the College Elementary school, reported Dr. McConnell.

Dr. McConnell just returned last Saturday from a trip through the midwest and Pacific Coast to interview applicants for positions at CWCE.

states that, "... The Nominating Convention shall nominate other candidates, if necessary, so that there shall be at least three candidates for each office." Does this mean that the Interclub Council, traditional nominating body, must only nominate enough candidates to make the three for each office, whether or not they accept, or that three candidates for each office must be listed on the ballot? Good question, isn't it?

With a little revision these ambiguous and confusing statements in the document could be cleared up and it would be a much more workable document.

Bookstore letter answers critic

Dear Editor:

Reading through the Crier last week I noticed an article which not only surprised me, but made me wonder too.

I'm speaking of the article that says "the book store doesn't cash checks".

It's true, for a while we cashed checks only in payment because we found ourselves with a drawer full of checks and no cash. However, the last six months, for the convenience of the students, we have honored any check so long as it isn't too large.

Your article stated the book store is a business, that's true, but not the kind of business that can cash pay checks for $15 and up.

I'm wondering if the person who wrote the article looked into the facts first. The money bag I take to the business office twice a day isn't empty. It contains checks we have cashed for the students convenience.

Sincerely,
Mrs. Louise Oien

Mother's Day chairmen named

Marilyn Miskimens, AWS social commissioner and Mother's Day general chairman, has recently announced the names of those students responsible for the planning of this coming weekend's festivities.

Mildred Ackerslund was responsible for invitations, and publicity is being handled by Diane Garland. Evelyn Revelli was appointed program chairman, while Janet Christy headed the fashion show.

Chairman for the tea is Carol Nelson and arrangements for the banquet were in the charge of Fannie Athos. Ida Lee McManus has been named as the person responsible for the evening program.

Miss Miskimens further stated that, "At this time I would like to express my appreciation to all the committee chairmen for their splendid cooperation and my thanks to all the other students who helped to make this a successful Mother's Day weekend."

Glenn Hogue Honored

H. Glenn Hogue (seated), chairman of the Division of Fine and Industrial Arts at Central Washington College, was presented with a life membership in the Washington Industrial Arts Association at the annual meeting of the association in Richland last week. The presentation was made by Raymond Pritcher (left), Wenatchee industrial arts teacher, on behalf of the association. (see story)

Hogue honored by IA association

Glenn Hogue, longtime industrial arts teacher at Central, was guest of honor at the noon luncheon of the regional meeting of the Washington Industrial Arts Association last Saturday at Richland.

He was presented with an engraved and framed lifetime membership in the association for his "meritorious service to education... and to teacher education in the state of Washington."

Hogue was also presented with a copy of Carl Sandburg's latest book, "Always the Young Strangers". Hogue's name was engraved on the cover of the book and Sandburg had inscribed the book:

"to Glenn Hogue
Beloved Teacher
and Camera Craftsman extraordinary
In Fellowship

Carl Sandburg"

Hogue has known Sandburg for some time, and has photographed him on many of his visits to the Central campus.

About 50 industrial arts teachers from this area, many of them former students of Hogue, were in attendance at the luncheon. Wilhelm Bakke of the Central industrial arts faculty was also there.
